Edwardsville Man Dies

Drowning Victims

Trying to Save Pair Who Slid on Spillway

Three persons, including two Granite City youths, drowned about 2 p.m. Thursday in the Hartford canal, increasing the area's season total to five.

The latest victims are Donald Shemwell, 17, of 2127 Lee avenue; Patricia Wilkinson, 17, of 2107 Fourteenth street; and Michael George Urban, 26, of Edwardsville.

Their bodies were recovered by volunteers of the Alton and Wood River township emergency corps and the Hartford fire department. The Wilkinson girl was found at 3:30 p.m., Urban at 4:40 p.m. and Shemwell at 6:15 p.m.

Urban drowned while trying to rescue the other two, and several others made efforts to rescue the trio. He is a former Granite City Steel Co. employee.

One of the rescue attempts was by Robert Wilkinson, 14, brother of the girl who told sheriff's officers that his sister and Shemwell were walking across the canal on the spillway which was covered by about 15 feet of water and either slipped or fell down the mossy slope.

Standing Neck Deep He said his sister was able to stand about neck deep on the bottom edge of the spillway. Shemwell was in deeper water and reached for her to make it to safety, but instead pulled her in.

Robert said he heard Shemwell yell for help but thought he was kidding. Shemwell then went under. Robert and Marie Lee, 19, of 187 Second street, Madison, who were swimming farther down the canal, reached his sister.

They tried to push her back onto the spillway, but were unable to do so. They tried and tried for the bank, making it with the assistance of Gene Moore, 2800 Saratoga avenue.

Not Good Swimmers Robert told sheriff's officers that neither his sister nor Shemwell could swim well, if at all. Meanwhile, Urban, who had been fishing, and Robert Clark, who had just driven up to the canal, jumped in and reached the girl, but she was struggling to make it. Clark, who had taken his trousers off in the turbulent water, barely made it back to shore.

Moore said the Press-Record that he used a branch and a rope to try to reach Urban, but was unsuccessful. He was at the high stage of the Mississippi river, water had backed into the canal, and it was impossible to swim at the spillway.

He said he asked others on the bank to call an emergency squad. (Continued on page 23, col. 2)

Pontoon Village Plans to License 3 Beauty Shops

Ordinances to establish $25 annual business license fees for beauty shops, concrete companies and ice cream parlors were placed on first reading Thursday night by the trustees of the Village of Pontoon Beach.

The board members received notice of an allocation of $807 motor fuel tax funds for improvement of arterial streets in the village and will call for bids to carry out laying and chalking.

Bids for a new police car are to be reviewed tonight by the board and members of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. The meeting will be held in the police station in the 2800 block of Lake drive.

The village business license ordinances are designed to cover three beauty shops, one ice cream parlor and one concrete firm. Board President Thomas Stalcio noted.

Final action is to be taken at next month's meeting. Also on first reading is a state recommended ordinance for control of septic tank installations. Stalcio said the state recommendations currently are under study by the village board and building commissioner.

The shipment presented a unique transportation problem due to the length of the extrusions which had to be supported on each end as the flat cars on which it rested went around curves of rail line.

Three railroad cars were used. The extrusions were placed on a 60-foot flat car with the overhang resting on 40-foot cars at each end.

It was necessary to survey potential rail routes to make certain there were no severe curves that would allow the extrusion ends to slide off the 40-foot cars.

Rush Greet Tax Office as GC Collection Opens

Collection of 1966 taxes got under way in Granite City today, ending several weeks delay because of a shortage of space in the treasurer's office.

E. R. "Pat" Rich, Granite City treasurer, said his office was greeted with an early morning rush of taxpayers, who paid in taxes "several thousand" dollars within the first hour.

Bills totaling $7,272,785 were mailed by Rich's office Friday. The total billing represents both personal and real estate taxes due for the 1966 tax year.

Collections will continue. Rich said, until about the middle of August. The city treasurer's office receives 25% commission on all taxes paid during the local collection period. This money goes into the city treasury and is used for general fund purposes.

Delayed Two Weeks Rich originally planned to begin collections June 12. Because of a shortage of working space in the treasurer's office, collection activity was delayed until Rich's staff could occupy the quarters across the hall formerly used by the controller's office. A rescheduled starting date of June 19 also was postponed because of the controller's office's new quarters. Rich's office was given the task of collecting all sewer bills several months ago.

Meanwhile, Nameoki township ended its tax collection period at the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank at the end of Friday's regular banking hours.

Nameoki Twp. Payments Gene Rottor, Nameoki township collector, reported a total of $23,490 was collected during the collection period which began June 2. Nameoki taxpayers were charged with payment of a total of $1,262,270 in 1966 taxes.

Collections for Nameoki township went into the second week this morning. Frank Reidelberger, Jr., Venice township collector, reported total payments of $248,416 in personal and real estate taxes through Friday.

Venice township taxes are being collected at the old First National bank building at Fourth street and Madison avenue. Reidelberger said he expects to continue collections until about the middle of July. He said he will announce a definite shut-off date later.

Area projects developed in the future will have to be coordinated with an overall plan of the Illinois-Missouri metropolitan area if they are to qualify for federal grants, Erick Maslan, representative of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development agency said during a meeting of the Madison County Citizens Planning Committee in Edwardsville Thursday night.

Addressing a group of 38 persons who attended the 6:30 p.m. dinner session Maslan, attached to the Chicago regional office of HUD, said the requirement of area-wide coordinated planning already is a strict one and that within the next year an area-wide, updated comprehensive plan will be necessary before any community or agency will be eligible for federal funds.

Attending the meeting from the Quad-City area were E. G. Schmitt, Carl Mathias, Howard Kaseberg, Chester Baker and C. E. Townsend.

Coordination is necessary, Maslan said, to avoid duplication of projects within the area and prevent interference of developments in one district with those proposed in another.

By July 1 of next year, he said, metropolitan areas such as the St. Louis metropolitan district will have to establish a comprehensive plan covering water and sewer projects, park projects and air and water pollution control in the same manner as the Highway Act of 1964 requires comprehensive planning for highway construction.

Coordination Required In 2-State Programming To Get Federal Funds

Burglars 'Break Out' Saturday After Looting Bowling Alley

Instead of breaking in, burglars broke out of the Tri Mor Bowl and had heard a noise coming from the bowling alley.

All police cars in the area were dispatched to the scene, but the thieves had successfully opened a rear door and fled before officers arrived. A car that had been reported stolen earlier in the evening was found at the rear of the building.

Inside the building, police found the burglars, who apparently had hidden, until the alleys were closed, had broken open three pinball machines, a juke box and a cigarette machine and taken the money. The amount was not determined.

Mailbox Thief Two government checks amounting to $449 and two government bonds valued at $37.50 were stolen from the mailbox at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boone, 2731 Marshall avenue, who was reported to police Friday evening.

Boone and his wife said the theft or thefts occurred in a period of three or four days. One check for $211 was mailed from Kansas City and the other for $238 was from the Army Depot here. The family talked to postal authorities, and the mail carrier recalled placing the envelopes in the Boone's mailbox.

John Moore, 2413 Rock road, reported to police last night upon his return from vacation that his home had been entered and ransacked. He said nothing seemed to be missing. Entry was gained through a rear window that had been pried open. Moore said he was gone since June 17.

Burglary at Flower Shop Burglars forced open a basement door and an inside door at the Blossom Shoppe, 1943 Delmar avenue, to get to an open safe where they removed a small box containing about $15 and papers, it was discovered about 8:10 a.m. Saturday by the proprietor, Roy Brammell.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to force open the cash register. The burglars fled through the rear door, leaving it open.

Four Meals-A-Day Plan to Start Tuesday at Hospital

A new "four-meal plan" will be introduced at St. Elizabeth Hospital Tuesday.

Under the new arrangement, Sister Mary Thomas, administrator, explained, two full meals are served—a brunch about 10:30 a.m. and dinner about 4 p.m. Two lighter meals—snacks served at 7:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. complete the new schedule.

"This unique meal plan, offered at no extra cost, is expected to achieve several patient benefits," the Sister said.

"They are: (1) To give fasting patients (those on early morning x-ray schedule, for example) their first big meal at the same time as other patients on regular diets, thus greatly reducing the need for 'held' trays and assuring the patient of an appetizing meal.

"(2) To adjust the caloric intake of the dormant or sedentary patient more consistently to his needs, thus making him more comfortable and less dependent upon laxatives.

"(3) To relieve the nurse and aide from some of the burdens attendant to serving food trays and get them back to the kind of patient care they have been trained to perform.

"(4) To cut down on wasted food.

"(5) To make meal time more pleasant experience for all patients.

"To offer a more selective menu on the same budget.

"The new plan has been studied and approved by the medical staff. Several other hospitals with similar plans were questioned to gain their experiences before organizing the local hospital's plan," she added.

Sample Menu

A sample menu for a patient on a general diet reads like this:

7:30 a.m. Early Bird
Selection of juice, cereal, sweet rolls, hard rolls, breakfast muffins, hot or cold beverages (served on all disposable service from cars on the floor) Cuts to stay on floor until 10:15 a.m.

10:30 a.m. Brunch
Selection of full brunch of eggs, bacon, sausage, ham, minute steak, hash browns, fried potatoes, pancakes, waffles, french toast, and hot or cold beverages (served in the same manner as now from the kitchen).

4 p.m. Dinner

7:30 p.m. Night Cap

State Hospital Gets Cancer Study Grant

Announcement of a federal grant of $8722 to study and control uterine cancer among female patients at the Alton State Hospital has been received from Cong. George Shipley, Dr. Abraham Simon, hospital superintendent, said Friday.

"The cancer control program is one of modernization to serve special physical needs of mentally ill patients," Dr. Simon said.

"The program will take approximately a year before the survey of uterine cancer can be completed using the improved Papanicolaou technique," he said.

Miss Svezia, Walter Jordan Exchange Wedding Vows

Arrangements of yellow gladiolus and white chrysanthemums at either side of the altar and white ribbon bows on the pews provided a setting Saturday for the wedding of Miss Marylee Svezia, daughter of Stanley Svezia, 1709 Fifth street, Madison, and the late Mrs. Leone Svezia, and Walter Carl Jordan, a son of Mrs. George M. Jordan, 2105 Monroe street, and the late Mr. Jordan.

The Rev. Sylvester Mick, OFM, officiated at the 11 o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Madison.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the Rose Bowl, with a reception given later the same day at the American Legion hall in Granite City.

Mrs. George Lee McGarran presided at the organ; and the soloist, Grace Mary Svezia, a cousin of the bride, sang "Ave Maria" and "O God of Loveliness."

The former Miss Svezia was gowning in white organza, designed on Empire lines, with imported Belgian lace adorning the long tapered sleeves and rounded neckline. Two tiny organza bows detailed the front of the bodice, while the slender organza skirt swept into a full cathedral train at the back.

The bouffant bridal veil, tiered silk illusion was held in place with a pill box, fashioned of delicate seed pearls, and the bride carried a cascade of pink leucopis orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Robert Price, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor with Mrs. Ralph Weller, Mrs. Jerry Powell and Mrs. Terry Andrews, as bridesmaids, and Miss Debbie Svezia, also the bride's sister, as the junior bridesmaid.

The flower girl, Kathy Chapell, was escorted by Ricky Chappell, who held the white train in ring pillow.

The attendants were dressed alike with the exception of color. The matron of honor was gowning in mint green and carried a cascade of mint green daisies and ivy, with the remaining attendants in yellow with bouquets of yellow daisies, intermingled with ivy.

Their full-length dresses of linen were fashioned in the Empire silhouette, with scooped necklines and bell sleeves. The A-line skirt was divided revealing panels of white crepe and Venise lace accented with petite bows encircling the raised waistline. On their hair, they were matching bow headpieces.

The flower girl was dressed in similar fashion and held a wicker basket overflowing with yellow daisy petals.

Terry Andrews served as best man, and the groomsmen were Ralph Weller, Jerry Powell, Dan Hrysko and Tom Graf, a nephew of the bridegroom. The corps of ushers was headed by Louis Sauter and John Bruno, cousins of the bride.

Mr. Jordan's mother selected a dress-coat ensemble of aqua shantung, complemented with bone-colored accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The former Miss Svezia was graduated in 1964 from Madison high school and attended Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus, Alton Center. She is employed as a secretary at the Granite City Army Depot.

Her husband, a 1961 Granite City high school graduate, currently attends Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus. He is employed by Union Electric Co.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the couple will be at home in Madison.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price and daughter of Columbia, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Andrews of Topeka, Kan.

MRS. WALTER CARL JORDAN, whose wedding was an event of Saturday at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison. She is the former Miss Marylee Svezia, a daughter of Stanley Svezia, 1709 Fifth street, Madison, and the late Mrs. Leone Svezia.

Dailey-Sharp Wedding Vows

Miss Judith Kay Sharp, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sharp Jr., 36 Moorland drive, and Frank Darron Dailey were united in marriage Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the Third Baptist Church, 2600 Grand avenue.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dailey of Staunton, Ill.

Mrs. Carol Parker presided at the organ and Dave Richardson, soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "More."

The church was simply decorated with altar bouquets of white gladiolus and greenery. Rev. Eugene Phillips officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was escorted down the white-carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father.

She chose for her wedding a street-length dress of white lace designed with an Empire waist, scooped neckline and lace bell sleeves. The sheath dress was worn under a lace coat in the A-line fashion.

Her nose-tip veil of illusion was caught with a comb outlined with tiny seed pearls, and the bride carried a colonial bouquet of white pom poms and ivy.

Mrs. Sharon Wise was the bride's only attendant. She wore a street-length dress of powder blue taffeta with over lace fashioned with a tiny rollover collar of satin. It was sleeveless, and three tiny satin bows in a dark shade of blue accented the back of the dress.

She wore matching accessories and a nosegay veil held in place with blue satin bows. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white pom poms and ivy.

Pryor-LeMaster Wedding In Setting of Candlelight

Candlelight illuminated the sanctuary of the Central Christian Church at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Peggy Ann LeMaster, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus S. LeMaster, 2138 Benton street, and James Curtis Pryor, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Benny R. Pryor, 3125 Jill avenue.

Rev. James R. Craddock performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white summer blossoms in silver vases and twin branched candles.

White satin bows marked the pews of the center aisle, along in which were placed tall standard candelabra festooned with white ribbons and holding lighted tapers.

Serving as candlelighters were Mary Beth Gordon and Nancy Meadows, who wore turquoise street-length frocks and matching bows in their hair.

Wedding music was furnished by Donald Bloomquist, organist, who accompanied the soloist, Joseph Hanson.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white organza and Chantilly lace. The lace Empire bodice featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline and bell-shaped sleeves.

A scalloped hemline enhanced the gown's semi-sheath skirt and the lace motif was re-embroidered on the full, detachable court train, falling gracefully from mid-shoulder.

A crown of Chantilly lace, designed especially to complement the bridal gown, secured the silk illusion cloud veil and she carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis, intermingled with baby breath and variegated ivy.

The attendants were Mrs. Rosemary Ahlberg as matron of honor, bridesmaid, Linda Pryor served as flower girl.

ried a colonial bouquet of blue and white pom poms and ivy.

Harold Garner served as best man and Jimmy Taylor and Philip Lamb were the ushers.

The church basement was decorated with white streamers and wedding bells for the reception, which immediately followed the ceremony. The newlywed couple left for a brief honeymoon trip to an undisclosed destination and will reside in Granite City upon returning.

The former Miss Sharp graduated from Granite City high school in 1966 and is employed as a secretary in St. Louis.

The groom graduated in 1964 from Granite City high school and has completed a tour of duty with the U.S. Army, being discharged in April. He is presently employed at Granite City Steel Co.

Mrs. Sharp, the bride's mother, wore a brown and white sheath dress with white accessories. The groom's mother chose a three-piece suit of pink, complemented with white accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

No Sympathy for Home Grass Cutters by SIU-SW Mowers

Quad-Cityans who think they have problems keeping lawns trimmed may be encouraged after hearing the tale of William Gentry, grounds supervisor for Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus, who is having his problems because of the abundant rainfall.

"The expanse of well-watered grass is staggering when the acreage is defined in terms of football fields," Gentry said. "Presently the grounds are cutting grass and other forms of foliage on approximately 2550 acres or 225 football fields."

"The distance between some of these plots ranges to eight miles," Gentry added, "and the terrain varies from smooth-surfaced lawns near the academic core to hills, gulleys, and valleys on the outer fringes of the campus."

About 55 acres of lawn has to be cut weekly, while another 2000 is cut two or three times a year and nearly 500 more acres of improved landscaping need attention periodically. Some of the improved ground also is leased to nearby farmers for growing crops.

8 Full-Time Workers
To manure the campus, Gentry employs eight full-time grass cutters and three to five part-time student workers. These people have at their disposal 13 "bushhogs" or farm tractors with rotary blades, five lawn tractors and a number of hand-operated power mowers for trimming.

The greatest portion of the 55 acres mowed weekly is near the academic complex and includes lawns of buildings, the island grass between the two-way highway and the knolls between the parking areas. Also cut frequently are tract sites where some of

FULL-TIME JOB at the SIU-SW campus just cutting grass. Riding the tractor-mowers are grounds keepers Charles Boyd of Alton and Al Volz of Alhambra while William Gentry of Alhambra, grounds superintendent, supervises. The crews mow 58 acres weekly.

The University's general services are housed in former residences, and the strips on either side of more than 15 miles of roads and highway.

"I keep two men cutting along the road right-of-ways all the time," the tanned supervisor said, "and they have to hustle to keep up." For cutting the tract lawns, which generally are quite a distance apart, crews use motor scooter vehicles and flat-top trail-tractors for transporting the lawn tractors. "They can be loaded grass between the two-way highway and the knolls between the parking areas. Also cut frequently are tract sites where some of

Plenty of "Rough Work"

For rough work in the fields, the workers ordinarily use farm tractors and keep the grass trimmed about three or four inches from the ground. These heavy machines cut a swath about six feet wide.

"Once in a while we get one stuck or break a part," the husky supervisor stated, "but most of the time the operation goes along smoothly."

He pointed out that the machines are kept properly maintained, including rotary blade changing on the tractors once a week, and sharpening 15 to 20 blades of every type once a day. In addition to supervising the grass cutting, Gentry, who functions under the campus architect's office, also oversees moving University furniture, disposal of some trash, sidewalk and road maintenance and the campus nursery. The latter facility on Bluff road encompasses about 22 acres and contain more than 50,000 plants. About 35 other employees are required to keep these related projects flourishing. Gentry says his job entails just about every obligation the average man has in his home, but his is on a much larger scale. Who cuts the grass at his own Alhambra home? "I do, of course," smiles the grounds chief. "My wife supervises."

Hunters Asked To Denote Type Of License

The Illinois Department of Conservation is asking hunters to be sure to specify whether they want bow permits or shotgun permits when they apply. Many applications are being returned by the permit office because the applicants did not indicate what type of permit they wanted.

Quotas in Alexander, Gallatin, Hamilton, Jackson, Johnson, Macoupin, Saline, Union and Williamson counties have been raised. More hunters apply for permits for Ogle, Carroll, Jo Daviess and Pope counties than can be accommodated.

The measure of good hunting is not the total number of white-tails killed in a county but the ratio of deer killed to the number of sportsmen hunting in the county. The concentration of hunters in choice locations in a few counties has resulted in crowded conditions and hunting of poorer

Credit Union opened the first game scoring in the seventh on a base hit by Nick Podoba and an RBI single by Larry Anderson. Mercer tied the score in the eighth on a walk, a stolen base and a hit by Al Turner. Mercer took the lead in the ninth on a stolen base and a single by Harold Tankley.

In the ninth, an error and a base on balls set the stage for Turner's homer to right center. Bill Evans, starting Credit Union pitcher, gave up three hits and one run, fanned nine, and walked none. Doug Winfield, winning pitcher, struck out three and allowed one hit and one run, while losing pitcher Bruce Thompson allowed seven hits, fanned nine and walked none.

In the second game, Mercer scored one run in the second, with Credit Union tying the score in the fifth. In the sixth, Mercer broke the game open with 12 runs on eight hits by Duane Sparks, Larry Ripka, Charles Johannimeyer, Greg Patton and Russell Feltmeyer, two bases on balls and an error.

Winning pitcher Ronald Parker struck out eight, walked none, and gave up five hits. Losing pitcher Doug Winfield gave up six hits, struck out five and walked seven.

A ninth-inning rally failed for Sacred Heart. Steve Moss singled in the ninth, driving in John Spengle, to clinch the win for Pochontas.

Roy Logan led Sacred Heart hitting with a double and single, while Jerry Corey had two singles.

Jim Rains pitched for Sacred Heart, giving up seven hits, walking two and striking out five.

Bill Fuchs in Pan-American Game Tryouts

Bill Fuchs, Granite City's 100-pound Illinois state wrestling champion, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fuchs, 2404 Angela drive, and a contingent of Granite Cityans will attend the Pan-American Game tryouts to be held July 3-5 at Minneapolis, Minn.

Fuchs, who since capturing the state title on the Warrior wrestling squad has been lifting weights to gain pounds, will wrestle in the 115-pound class in opening day tryouts next Monday.

The champion has been awarded a full scholarship to Purdue University, where he will enroll this fall. He has been asked to attend a U. S. Olympic training camp in preparation to compete for the 1968 Olympic games. His parents have indicated that permission from Purdue is needed for Fuchs to attend the camp, and a decision is being awaited.

If he wins at Minneapolis, Fuchs will advance to World Pan-American Games to be held in Winnipeg, Canada.

Safety Steps Can Help Keep Golfing Enjoyable

With increasing numbers taking up America's most popular outdoor game, more accidents can be expected on the golf course this year.

Just as the highways are already seeing cars bumper to bumper on weekends, the steady stream of golfing enthusiasts may make the country club or public course more hazardous than ever before.

Golf is not considered a dangerous sport, but just as in driving a car, inattention and lack of experience can result in tragedy. The Institute for Safety Living has prepared some tips for both the novice on the links and the more seasoned player.

Look Before Driving

"Look before you drive—safety is par for this course" is the headline on posters which have been sent by the institute to more than 800 golf courses across the country.

Here are the safety suggestions: Never hit a golf ball if there is anyone—caddies, other players, workers—within possible range of the distance you can hit. If a caddy is shagging for you, give him a chance to protect himself. Make sure the sun is behind him, not in his eyes.

Don't take practice swings unless it is your turn to hit—not only discourteous but a dangerous habit.

Combine Courtesy, Safety

Always stand behind and away from the player making the shot. This is golf courtesy and golf safety combined.

If a hole is blind (either dogleg or over a hill) don't hit until you know for sure that the foursome ahead is out of range.

If hitting in a wooded or stony rough, be sure that other members of your match stand well away while you hit. If there is a possibility of a ball bouncing back at you, take the safe, sacrifice shot.

If workers are on the fairway within range, warn them that you are going to hit—and make sure that they hear you before you do it.

Don't drive a golf cart on sides of steep slopes, too close to other players or too fast. When stopping, park in a level area.

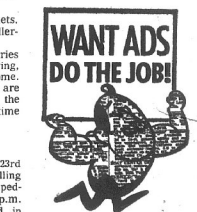

Thunderstorm Rules

If a thunderstorm threatens, get off the golf course. If this is not practical, stand in a grove of trees—never near a single one—or in below-level protection in a ditch or sand trap. If caught out in the open, lie down on the ground.

Beware of bees and hornets. Golf courses are not nurseries or dog ranches; when playing, leave children and pets at home. Remember your age. You are getting older every day and the course gets longer every time you play.

Weld Outduels Beale in Sprint Car Race Here

Greg Weld of Kansas City, Mo., won the 30 lap (15 mile) feature sprint race at the Tri-City Speedway Saturday night as U. S. sprint cars made their debut in the Illinois area.

It was the third straight sprint car win for Weld, who took the lead from Rollie Beale of Toledo, O., on the sixth lap. Beale, however, remains total point leader in sprint car racing for the year, pacing the second-place Weld by 150 points to 168.

Granite City's W. B. Spalding drove spectacularly in his "Sterling Plumbing Special" and seemed to have third place clinched when his transmission gave out with only four laps remaining. Still game, however, Weld continued driving with one hand while holding the gear in place with the other and finished in fifth position.

He was passed near the finish by Don Thomas of El Cajon, Calif., and Ralph Ligouri of Tampa, Fla., who wound up in third and fourth place, respectively.

Ovation for Spalding

Spalding also won the second heat race, which prompted standing ovation from the near capacity crowd.

Other winners in the heat races were Beale in the first heat and Johnny Rutherford of Fort Worth, Tex., in the third. Larry Dickson of Marietta, O., won the semi-feature event, with Jim Luebbert and Beale, who finished second and third with times of 24.91 and 25.02 seconds.

The feature event, called the "Don Dale Memorial Race," was the way to a rapid pace the whole way as no caution flags were displayed.

Intermittent drizzle discomfited the spectators but hardened the dirt surface of the track and pocked down the dust so that faster racing became possible. Fires were burning on the front straightaway.

Return This Weekend

Big car sprints will be featured again this Saturday at the Tri-City Speedway.

The times are expected to be faster than in last Saturday's competition because there will be no more rain.

Other winners in the heat races were Beale in the first heat and Johnny Rutherford of Fort

Gerry Camfield of Argenta, Ill., won in two events and placed first in the super-modified sprint races at the Tri-City Speedway on Friday night.

Camfield won the handicap race and the first heat race, and placed fourth in the first feature. Bill Utz of Sedalia, Mo., was another standout, winning the second heat and the first feature. Al King won the third heat, Ernie Sanders took the semi-feature event, and Jerry Blundy and Gene Hansen placed second and third in the first feature.

Grace Baptist Scores 18-5 Triumph at Park

Grace Baptist, collecting 18 hits and aided by 12 errors, downed Emmanuel Baptist 18-5 at Wilson Park Saturday night. Namokli Methodist beat Central Christian 18-3 and Bethel edged Niedringhaus Methodist 5-4 in Saturday's other contests in the slow pitch softball Class B Church League.

Grace Baptist opened with four runs and added nine in the second inning on five errors and singles by Robert Garland, Larry Sides and Marvin Kez and a triple by Carl Miltkin. Sides and Don Dillard each had a triple and James Price and Richard Fanning each hit a double.

Emmanuel Baptist's 10-hit attack included doubles by Ray Smith, Mike Boyer and George Dombek.

Namokli Methodist garnered 14 hits against Central Christian, including a triple and a double and a single by Roger Russell, a single and double by Jim Rucker and three singles each by Stanley Brown and Harold Davis. Lloyd Judge gave up nine hits to the losers.

Central Christian had only one extra-base hit, a double by Bradley Palanski.

Niedringhaus Methodist garnered 14 hits to Bethel's nine, but Bethel's Luther Holst scored on Bob Myers' single for the winning run in the eighth. Niedringhaus had scored four in the first and Bethel four in the fourth.

Watney Hemphill led Niedringhaus hitting with a triple and two singles. Irvin Slate and Kenneth Tankley had two singles each. Robert Dawson had two singles for the winners.

Rozycski, Sammy's in Softball Victories

Poor hitting and fielding errors helped Rozycski Realty down the Zips 9-2 and a back-to-back double and single by Haig and Leo Nighohossian, who both scored, clinched an 11-10 win for Sammy's Tavern over Club Delmar in rescheduled slow pitch softball Class B League games Sunday at Wilson Park.

Rozycski opened with three runs in the first on successive singles by Frank Eaves, Bill Page, Ronald Graywacz and Garland Horn and grazed for five in the sixth on singles by the same way by Carl Afford and a triple by Keith Mathenia. An error brought in Horn in the sixth. Eaves tripled and scored Rozycski's other run in the second. He gave up 10 hits to the losers.

The Zips had 10 hits, including three singles by David Tutka and a single and double each by William Haddix and Victor Stroke. Bill Morris gave up 11 hits in losing.

Sammy's opened the scoring with four runs, but Club Delmar countered with six in the fifth, including a homer by Mike Sikora. James Warren honored for Sammy's. Leo Eanning had a triple and Robert Karandjeff, George Moore, Terry Moore and Eric Robertson all had two singles each.

Leo Nighohossian gave up 17 hits in winning. Sammy's 18-hit attack was led by Harrison, two singles and a double, and Lyle Howell, four singles. Sikora had a double and single for Club Delmar.

Legion Squad Bows 3-to-0 to Belleville Nine

Unbeaten Belleville simply had too much pitching for the Granite City nine as pitchers Jim Kremmel and Rick Keefe combined for 12 strike-outs and shut out the home team on four hits, in Legion ball Friday night. Granite City, idle Saturday night when Nashville failed to appear for an exhibition contest, will be at Collinsville tonight to decide the league game with that team which was raised out of existence.

On Thursday night, Granite City will be away for an exhibition game against Collinsville, and on Friday last-place Dupu will be here for a league game.

Granite City threatened only twice during the game—in the fourth and seventh innings.

In the fourth, Larry Ripka drilled a single to center and raced to third when the outfield bobbled the ball. He was left stranded, however, as Kremmel retired the next three batters on easy pop ups and a ground ball.

In the bottom of the seventh and last inning, Granite City threatened again, as Jeff Jones, singled sharply with one out and advanced to second when Steve Conway walked. Keefe then took over from Kremmel and squelched the last ditch effort by striking out the next two Granite City batters.

Don Rains went all the way for Granite City. He gave up a home run to Belleville's Catcher Mike Tootles in the second, and two runs on four singles in the third, but blanked Belleville the rest of the distance.

The game dropped Granite City to fifth place with a 2 and 4 record, while Belleville moved up to a solid hold on first place with a 6 and 0 record.

State Suggests Campers Have Fire Extinguishers

The "camping out" season is on—and the Fourth of July is only a few days away. Ross V. Randolph, director of the Department of Public Safety, said today recommending that campers supplement their gear with two fire extinguishers, one a pressurized water extinguisher, the other a C-O-2 type.

The water pressure type can be used when sparks start grass fires in the camping area. The C-O-2 is used to extinguish gas, oil, kerosene or oil fires, usually from cooking equipment.

Referring to Fourth of July observances, William J. Cowhey, state fire marshal, said: "The law is specified and drastic regarding explosive substances." The only exceptions under the act are toy pistols, toy canes, toy guns or other devices in which paper caps containing 0.25 grains or less of explosive compound are used.

in ending, Dr. Maer urged young men interested in optometrics to consult the Illinois Optometric Association, which has scholarships to aid those undertaking the four years of study required to be an optometrist.

About 20 Optometrist members were on hand for the luncheon, at which Dr. Raymond Troyer presided. The Optometrist program next week will be at Wilson Park, where members will picnic and inspect the new ice skating rink there.

Optimists Hear Talk By Optometrist

"As optometrists draw closer and closer to the fields of psychology and teaching, we are becoming increasingly aware that seeing is not necessarily understanding," Dr. Stanley F. Maer told a luncheon meeting of Granite City Optimists at the YMCA on Thursday.

Dr. Maer, current president of the Illinois Optometrists Association and a past president of the Twilight Optimists, emphasized the intricate and complex role of optometrists in today's world, while speaking critically of the notion that the optometrist's skill was a simple matter of testing vision by eye charts.

He pointed to the schools and industry as the two major areas which better awareness of optometric study had resulted in beneficial changes in the approach taken to problems of eyesight.

"Your child may have perfect 20-20 vision, but other emotional and psychological problems impede his ability to see clearly and thus place him at a disadvantage in his school work."

The optometrist must be able to recognize these other factors and place them in their perspective, while the teacher must recognize that a youngster's failure to make out what's on the blackboard may be a real disability, even when not immediately correctable by glasses," he said.

Dr. Maer also stressed that the field of industrial vision was attracting more and more attention."

He commended those companies which had made vigorous efforts at shielding their employees against acute visual strains, such as those caused by harsh glare, which might impair eyesight. Here he cited the improvement and refinement of industrial goggles in recent years as an significant example of a new awareness of the importance of optometrics as a field of study.

Dr. Maer urged young men interested in optometrics to consult the Illinois Optometric Association, which has scholarships to aid those undertaking the four years of study required to be an optometrist.

Melton-DeMoro Nuptials In Collinsville Saturday

An out-of-town wedding of interest here was that Saturday in Collinsville of Miss Diana DeMoro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ulondo DeMoro, 328 South Jefferson street, Collinsville, and Airman Second Class Jimmie L. Melton, a son of Mrs. Howard Huffman, 3051 Sinclair avenue, and the late Carl Melton of Granite City.

Rev. Carl Kuhlmann performed the double-ring ceremony at seven o'clock Saturday evening in St. John Evangelical Church, Collinsville. Burning tapers in tall candelabra were situated alongside the chancel steps and the altar held bouquets of white daisy chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery.

More than 100 guests attended a reception given in the St. John's church hall immediately following the ceremony.

After a brief honeymoon trip, the newly-married couple will leave July 1 for Anchorage, Alaska, where Airman Melton has been assigned for a two-year tour of duty.

The local serviceman is a graduate of Granite City high school and attended Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus Alton center, prior to entering the Air Force 11 months ago.

His bride, a 1966 graduate of Collinsville high school, was employed as a secretary with the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission. Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss DeMoro selected a bridal gown of pure white alencon lace and chiffon designed with an Empire bodice of lace, scoop neckline and long tapering sleeves. The slender bride's skirt was enhanced with flowing panels of chiffon, cascading to the hemline, secured with a soft back bow of chiffon. The tiered veil of silk illusion was held in place with a forward headpiece of lace-etched petals, and she carried colonial bouquet of white carnations centered with a detachable phalaenopsis orchid corsage.

Miss Janet Dies was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Sinclair and Miss Rachel Suter. Deborah Hernandez and Keith Melton, a brother of the groom, were the flower girl and ring-bearer.

The attendants were dressed alike in aqua chiffon, fashioned with rounded necklines and elbow-length sleeves. Self-colored daisies encircled the fitted waistline above the long, sheer skirts and back interest was created with a panel of chiffon sweeping from a point at the waist to the floor. On their hair, they wore matching headpieces and brief maline veils and their flowers were yellow daisy pom poms arranged in colonial style.

Richard Melton, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man, with Joseph Naylor, Jerry Hilger and John Hilger, cousins of the bride, and Mike Gereau, as the groomsmen and ushers.

MRS. JIMMIE L. MELTON, whose wedding was Saturday at St. John Evangelical Church in Collinsville. The former Diana DeMoro, the bride, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ulondo DeMoro, 328 South Jefferson street, Collinsville. Airman Second Class Melton is a son of Mrs. Howard Huffman, 3051 Sinclair avenue, and the late Carl Melton.

FORMER RESIDENTS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Padgett and their son, Craig of Galea, Calif., arrived in the city today to spend several weeks visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Robert Padgett, 248 Benton street, his brothers, Walter and Leo Padgett and their families and other relatives here.

The annual family picnic of the Welcome Wagon will be held at Wilson Park, area five, at 6 p.m. Tuesday. Welcome Wagon sponsors and their families are invited to attend and all are requested to bring their own table service and if possible a covered dish.

Cub Pack Two Awards Meeting

Boys who received awards were Danny Gaudette, wolf badge; and Michael Beck, Jimmy Hinson and Randy Vanciglio, bear badges. A new cub scout, Ricky Zengin, was awarded a Bobcat pin and welcomed into the pack.

Preparations were completed for a field trip and wieners roast at Pere Marquette State Park, near Graret, slated for the past weekend. Plans also were made to operate a soda stand in connection with the Fourth of July celebration at Wilson Park.

A social hour was enjoyed, with refreshments served by Mr. and Mrs. Hinson to those named and to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tondre, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gaudette and children, Mrs. Bert Beck and children and Mrs. Donald Zengin and family.

160 Attend Adult Night at Paddlers

A festive evening with an international flavor attracted more than 160 adults Saturday to Paddlers Swim Club, 2121 Johnson road. The occasion was the initial adult night activity given for members of the non-profit swim private swim club and their guests.

Highlighting the "International Holiday" was entertainment provided by two groups of local youngsters, sponsored by the Mexican Honorary Commission. Under the direction of Steve Ortiz, commission president, the children performed a selection of Latin-American dance numbers.

Fred Noth served as master-of-ceremonies and adding spice to the entertainment segment, was a lively troupe of "can-can" dancers composed of Fred Cunningham, Edward Hoff, Earl Baueger, Louis Bason and Keith Parker.

Guests were greeted on arrival by Mrs. Mary Noth and Mrs. Jo Ann Kalerit attired in airline hostess uniforms, who directed the couples to a series of events taking place around the twin pools. Decorations included travel posters and other objects reflecting the international theme.

Games were played in the "Casino de Paddlers" with activities supervised by costumed dealers, Karl Kirchoff, Allen Jesse, Michael Tondas and Buenger. Bunny girls, Mrs. Marcia St. Ivany and Mrs. Ruth Malorick, also were in evidence in the casino area.

A steak dinner was served buffet-style on the pool deck which resembled a Monte Carlo beach scene. Huge wicker baskets, overflowing with fresh fruit, red and white checkered cloths and centerpieces of red and white carnations were among the appointments used in the dining area.

Those in charge of the party were Mrs. Mary Jesse, Mrs. Jeanne Beatty, Mrs. Joyce Schrader, Mrs. Marcia Buenger and Dr. Alan Skirball.

Two-Week Day Camp Ends at Wilson Park

A two-week day camp for retarded children and young adults ended Friday at Wilson Park with parents and friends attending the final session to view handicraft displays and observe activities.

The camp is sponsored annually by the Granite City Association for Aid to the Retarded and the Granite City park district.

Part of the final day's program was the presentation of a $50 donation by the Eagles' Kitchen Band toward expenses incurred during the two-week project. Representing the Eagles were Mrs. Florence Hagnauer and Mrs. Margie Hall, who presented the check to Eugene Tondre, president of the Granite City Association.

The camp was conducted daily Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m., with children transported to the park by the association's bus.

Mrs. Matti Maxey, a physical education instructor in the Granite City school district, served as the 1967 camp coordinator, assisted by a member of the park district recreational staff and volunteers from the parents' organization.

In addition to a daily program of handicraft, swimming and games, the campers enjoyed bowling at a local alley one day each week and spent another period at the local roller skating facility.

Experience in overnight camping was provided the youngsters, who spent one night in tents at the Baptist recreation ground at Mitchell. The overnight camp-also included cook-outs and special entertainment.

During the past week, the children toured places of interest, including Grant's Farm in St. Louis county. In previous years, the group was taken to Lambert Field, the St. Louis Zoo and an excursion of the riverboat, Mark Twain. Transportation for the field trips was provided by the park district.

Twenty high-school-age counselors who volunteered their services in supervising the 31 campers enrolled in the day camp, were introduced by Mrs. Maxey at the closing program.

BELL TO TOLL JULY 4

The big bell in front of the Illinois Building on the state fairgrounds will be rung in observance of the annual July 4th celebration, "Bells on Independence Day," according to State Fair Manager Franklin H. Rust.

The bell-ringing is in response to a proclamation by Gov. Otto Kerner designating 1 p.m. (CDT) Tuesday, July 4, as a time for bells and carillons in all Illinois churches, schools and public buildings to be rung simultaneously as a reminder of our freedom as Americans.

Illinois will be joining the other 49 states in similar observances at the same time.

Edwin B. Akin, administrator of the Illinois Veterans Commission, is coordinating the "Bells on Independence Day."

DANGER: TEARGAS GUNS

Serious injuries have occurred recently from the accidental discharge of teargas guns, according to a warning from the Food and Drug Administration to the Illinois Department of Public Health, Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director, said.

The guns generally are cylindrical, hollow, pen-shaped objects and discharged a teargas cart-

Weed Out Gardening Hazards

Before you start weeding your onions and petunias, take time to "weed out" hazardous gardening practices.

Space projects over a number of weekends and take frequent rests.

Keep tools sharp and in good repair. And be extra careful when working in a small area with others.

When putting tools aside temporarily, place them where they can't be tripped over. At the end of the day, clean tools and store them in a shed, garage or basement on racks or hooks.

When lifting heavy objects, get help.

Keep your head above your work when pruning branches. Falling twigs and flying bark may injure your eyes.

Wear comfortably loose clothes, thick-soled and low-heeled shoes, and work gloves. If the sun is bright, wear a hat.

Avoid the bad habit of chewing on a leaf or stalk. More than 100 common plants are poisonous—some of them lethal.

Exercise special care when handling, mixing or applying poisonous insecticides or plant foods. As soon as possible after working with such products, wash hands and any other areas that may have been exposed to the poison.

Remember to take a safe and sensible approach to gardening.

Sunburn Problems

If you are one of the vanishing Americans (those who consider basking their outer hides to a crisp brown each summer "status" thing to do) you should be aware of some of the hazards of tanning.

Tanning induces premature aging of the skin and various freckles and blemishes.

Continued tanning brings gradual changes in the blood vessels of the exposed surfaces.

The connective tissue of the skin degenerates causing wrinkles and a coarsening of texture. The "v" of the neck becomes permanently reddened and freckle-like dark spots appear on the skin. These spots can sometimes be the start of skin cancer.

Sun bleaches the hair, too, and over a period of time the sunbleached hair becomes brittle and unmanageable. However, the damaged hair will eventually grow out.

If you must tan your skin, do it without burnings. Gradual tanning with a minimum of discomfort is possible for most people. Gradual exposure to the sun is the safest and simplest method of acquiring a tan. As a general rule, begin with 15 minutes exposure the first day, and increase the time by a few minutes a day. The time of day is important, with the midday period, when the sun is directly overhead, being the hottest for burning purposes.

The physical benefits of tan-

Registration will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the cafeteria building on RTH in East. All classes will be held on the Junior College part of the East Campus located on West Boulevard.

The cost to a resident of District 522 (Belleville, O'Fallon, Lebanon, Mascoutah, Freeburg, New Athens, Marissa) will be a tuition fee of $5 per semester hour of credit taken, a registration fee of $10, plus lab fees, books and supplies.

Out-of-district students will also pay a tuition fee of $5 per semester hour of credit taken, and, in addition, will have to pay packing and shipping charges for their school supplies.

Students stating the high school district will pay the balance of the student's tuition costs. If at the time of registration the out-of-district student does not have this authorization, the charge-back cost will be levied against the student in the amount of $3.50 per semester hour. Out-of-district students will also be charged a $10 registration fee, plus lab fees, books and supplies.

Students may register for either day or evening courses or for a combination thereof. Classes will be limited to a maximum of three courses.

A $5 late registration fee will be charged after June 30. No registration will be accepted after the second meeting of the class. Classes will not be organized unless a minimum of 15 students are enrolled in the course by the close of registration on June 30.

All fees are payable at registration.

Among the 90 courses listed on the schedule are courses in art, aviation ground training, biological science, business, chemistry, education, English, French, health, history, mathematics, music, nursing, physics, political science, psychology, Spanish, speech, sociology and surveying.

Action Delayed on Landfill Amendment

The county board of supervisors delayed action today on a proposed zoning law amendment that would place stricter regulations on dumps and landfills in Madison county.

The board considered only routine business in the opening phase of today's meeting at Edwardsville, one of two annually mandated sessions.

Members of the Zoning and Subdivision Control Committee and the Zoning Appeals Board, held up action on the landfill amendment until next meeting.

The amendment had been scheduled for action today.

If approved, establishment of landfills in M-2 or M-3 medium or heavy manufacturing areas would require issuance of use permits. Under existing regulations, dumps can be located in these zones without specific authority.

recognized until recent years, this applies only to the isolated substance. Large quantities of MSG have been used in the Orient. Soy sauce, a common condiment in China and Japan, is rich in MSG. Interest in its flavor-enhancing qualities led eventually to the production of relatively pure MSG.

Monosodium glutamate is a modification of the chemical compound glutamic acid that occurs naturally in many proteins. Food researchers developed methods to prepare MSG commercially, and the use of crystallized MSG has been widespread.

The Food and Drug Administration has approved the product as being safe to use. However, when it is used in canned vegetables and soups, its presence must be indicated on the label. MSG may be used in mayonnaise and salad dressing without notation on the label.

When using monosodium glutamate in food preparations, you may add the substance before or during cooking. The flavor of meats, fish, stews, and soups is most noticeably affected by the addition of MSG. Tests show no fruits or fruit juices.

A Flavor Intensifier

Contrary to a rather widespread belief, monosodium glutamate (MSG) is not a preservative or a tenderizer. It is a seasoning agent found naturally in food and now manufactured from various vegetable protein sources, such as soybeans, wheat, and corn.

POLITICIANS PREVENTING IMPARTIAL POLICE WORK

To the Editor:
Barney Fraundorf, in his June 15 Forum letter, pointed out some problems in the Madison police department. I would like to voice some of my own observations.
Mr. Fraundorf mentioned the two untrained political appointees occupying police department desks and records jobs. This, I think, is only one aspect of a very unhealthy attitude toward police officers have toward police department affairs.
The Madison police system is being held subservient to political ends and, I think, some ends not concerned with the good of the community.
Police work should instead be treated as a profession, as a job that must be done to some extent impartially no matter who is doing the violating. This seems to be the big problem in Madison now.
In order to do things right, the police have to be chosen, and promoted, on their own merits. They must be trained, and given proper equipment and proper leadership.

And the job must be made more attractive and self-sufficient. It is my own opinion a policeman should make between $8000 and $10,000 a year.
If, additionally, they should be provided with longevity, a paid-up $10,000 death policy, full hospitalization, a cash allowance for clothes and cleaning bills, and payment for overtime and for time and expenses during court appearances.
If there is a need for a second job it means police work will not appeal to capable personnel. It means the policeman will have outside interests. And it means he will not be available 24 hours a day.
I think that if the officials of Madison would eliminate the Madison job, the city would be better off. Little or no crime, they could provide the police department with most of these needed items at no more cost to the city.
Whether they would want to is another question.

Future Cars May Be 'Urbmobiles'

(American Transit Association)
It's 7:30 a.m.
You walk into your garage, unplug your car from a wall socket and press a button.
Silently and smoothly, the Volkswagen-sized vehicle glides up the quiet street and stops at the intersection.
You pull on, and the car locks to electrified steel rails which guide it at 60 miles an hour into the downtown area. You shove, read the paper, or even nap for the few minutes it takes to get to work.
Downtown, you guide the car to the main highway and slip it into a special parking lot.
While you're in the office, the car might even be used by the system driver. That's the way the system works.
Pie in the Sky?
The above sounds like a slice of some kind of pie in the sky, but Cornell Aeronautics Laboratory feels it could become transportation's main course.
The U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development announced last month it has awarded Cornell a $100,000 contract for a nine-month research project to the feasibility of such a mass transit system.
The contract, under the Mass Transportation Act, is for a study. But CAL engineers say if a paper study proves the plan's feasibility, such a system could really be put into operation in any big city before the turn of the century.

unless we depend on quality. This has been my feeling, my argument.
Now in Southern Illinois University President Delyle Morris, interviewed by Paul M. Angle, a noted historian.
Angle: I infer that you do not believe that the state of Illinois is at present, providing adequate facilities for these people who are not in the higher ranks of their high school classes but still have potentials that need to be developed. Am I correct in that?
Morris: Oh, yes. That's incontestable.
Angle: Do you know of any state that is providing such facilities?
Morris: California is coming close. But, institution by institution in Illinois we're withdrawing educational opportunities. That's unequivocally true.
In Southern Illinois University, for instance, we tried to keep the open door for all high school graduates and did until some four or five years ago. We find that fewer students in the lower levels are able to finish college than those in the upper. We also find that there are always persons in the lower group who do finish and do quite well.
Some very good students simply didn't get around to doing the job in high school, but do in college.
This gets back to the question, "How important is it to the state to educate individuals?"
If you start with, say, the lowest third of the high school class, you find that the percentage of persons who will finish college is less than if you start with the upper third. But some will finish.
Now the individual cost per capita will run higher for the lowest third. Can we say that we don't think we can as a state.
I don't think we can as a nation because, unfortunately, we are becoming more and more outmoded in the world, we are simply out of position as the outstanding industrial giant of the world.

State Withdrawing Educational Opportunities When It Should Be Encouraging Enrollment in Universities like that if he's motivated; you just point out the direction for him to go.

Our feeling is that someone who has less ability, but who should develop the ability he has, working with him takes more time and becomes a very heavy burden indeed.
Then people say you don't have to be a genius to be a good person. I've been told that the important thing is not to try to achieve quality by whom you are, but to achieve quality by what you do with those you let in.
Whoever comes to an institution gives quality to it only by his accomplishments.
Therefore, we have tried to be lenient on the admission side, and have insisted on strength on the retention side.
We feel that all of our institutions to see this point of view and adjust themselves accordingly. I believe we would come to bringing each person up to his own potential.
Angle: Do you think that the upper third of the school day and the school week, and we can handle thereby about 25% more students than the other two-thirds in the same buildings.
Instead of having a short summer session we now have a full quarter summer session so that we use our buildings an extra month.
Our present admission policy is to limit enrollment in the Fall Quarter to Illinois students in the upper one-half of their graduating class. During the Winter Quarter we accept students in the upper two-thirds of their class.
All Illinois high school graduates are eligible to attend the Spring and Summer Quarters.
The entrance requirement for out-of-state students is higher.
All of our state institutions have been raising the barriers, and I see no sign of lowering them.
Angle: Is yours the only state institution that is following this procedure?
Morris: There is considerable variation among the six state universities.
I have acquired a number of critics in private as well as public institutions of higher education. They are advocating the admission of students from the bottom as well as the top of high school graduating classes.
Angle: So, in effect, educational opportunities are being leveled over the state to thousands of students.
Morris: This is what troubles me. Obviously, the lower-level students present a harder job.
You mentioned Leland. Yes. You don't need to spend a lot of time with a person

Governor Has Chance to Extend a Great Dental Health Advance Throughout Illinois

Readers of this paper will not be surprised that we urge Gov. Gurnea to extend the dental health legislation recently approved by the Illinois House and Senate.
The reason for such a law is simple: fluoridation safely and dependently prevents tooth decay. Fluoridation legislation recently approved by the Illinois House and Senate.
The reason for such a law is simple: fluoridation safely and dependently prevents tooth decay. Fluoridation legislation recently approved by the Illinois House and Senate.

The thoroughly tested and economical procedure has been backed of all established state and national dental, medical and public health authorities and organizations. They are unanimous in urging that one part per million of fluoride be added to each community's water supply now lacking it.
Varied arguments have been used to oppose fluoridation, but they have come to nothing. The charge lacks validity on both counts.
There is no medication because fluoridation has no effect on existing conditions; it treats nothing, but does avoid future development of tooth decay, which in turn could lead to other health problems. "Force" is not accurate because the program is started only where a majority of voters or legislators approve it, and fluorine is a member of the same halogen group as chlorine, the disease-eliminating agent whose use few "pure water" advocates would want put into their water supply.
It will be recalled that Granite City voters overwhelmingly for fluoridation, and that the Madison and Venice city councils also formally called on the East St. Louis & Interurban Water Co. to carry out the fluoride. In fact, except for Belleville and Swansea, the water firm received all the requests and authorizations necessary in order to fluoridate its water supply system.
About 75% of the Illinois population enjoys

New Collecting Mania-Barbed Wire

(Carrington, N.D., Independent)
The modern collecting mania has reached the point of all things, barbed wire.
Collecting the old-time fencing wire with sharp points is a fast-growing hobby, the National Geographic Society says. Enthusiasts willingly pay as much as $12.50 for an 18-inch segment of rusty, but rare, wire.
"Barbarians," as the collectors call themselves, swap specimens of Sunderland Kink, Ross's Four-point, Scott's Clip, Lazy Ribbon, The Winner, Ellwood Ribbon, and other scarce samples of "the fence that tamed the West."
The late historian Walter Prescott Webb called barbed wire the Industrial Revolution's "greatest contribution to the economic conquest of the Great Plains."
Supplies of wood and stone were meager on the prairies, where fences were needed to protect against herds of half-wild cattle.
Barbed wire was the answer to a farmer's prayer for fencing that was "pig tight, horse high, and bull strong."
The origins of barbed wire became entangled in bitter patent fights, but historians agree that Joseph Glidden, a farmer of De Kalb, Ill., was the first successful manufacturer of barbed wire. Glidden, who was born in Hampshire, patented his wire in 1874. With typical Yankee ingenuity, he adapted an old coffee mill to make the barbs and a grindstone to twist the strands.
"Beta-Million" Takes Over
"Glidden Wire" went with apathy until John W. (Beta-Million) Gates took it to Texas.
In Texas, Gates laid the foundation for his flamboyant career as a plunger and speculator.
Though Texas doubted that a little wire fence would do for the means of a fortune, Gates proved otherwise.
"We'll give 'em a show," he told a friend. "Get the wildest cattle in Texas—corral 'em here with barbed wire and then let 'em loose. That'll show 'em. Ain't a cowhand livin' worth a cent for that?"
Gates built a demonstration corral in the heart of San Antonio.
He told the curious crowd: "This is the finest fence in the world. Light as air. Stronger than whiskey. Cheaper than dirt. All it's built with is barbed wire. You can get through it."
He was right. Twenty-five of the means of a fortune, Gates had exhausted themselves trying to break out of the barbed wire corral. Long after Gates had sold hundreds of miles of "bob wire."
In 1874, 10,000 pounds of barbed wire were made and sold. Within six years, the output had soared to 80,000,000 the benefits of fluoridation, but the need for unanimity within this area has prevented East St. Louis & Interurban from proceeding. Thus, a minority has been blocking the majority's wishes and needs for many years.

The logic and value of statewide fluoridation uniformly is obvious. Gov. Gurnea has the opportunity to give Illinois a mighty stride forward in dental health, public health and enlightened progress.

G. H. Sternberg Will Be an Able, Inspiring Leader of Optimists Throughout the World

Selection of Gene H. Sternberg as president-elect of Optimist International is a deserved honor for the Granite City building contractor, who has given much time and effort to Optimist projects and a multitude of other public service and community betterment activities.
His energy and spirit of great value to the city, council and municipality during his four years as an alderman. Serving as street committee chairman and later as head of the sewer committee, he helped upgrade local street maintenance and construction. He devoted more hours than any other individual in obtaining voter approval of comprehensive drainage improvements this spring.

Sternberg has traveled widely to address Boy Scout, Optimist and other gatherings, having previously attained election to international Optimist and regional secretary offices. That he has maintained an active business and played key roles in government, education and finance and in such groups as the Chamber of Commerce and United Fruit is a tribute to his ability to get the most out of each hour and day.
The latest honor reflects high credit not only on him and the Quad-Cities but also the Optimist organization; it has chosen as its leader in 1968-69, the golden anniversary year, a man whose ideals and life will serve as a real worldwide inspiration.

Action By Citizens Led to Maryville Crossing Signals
If anyone has ever concluded that the efforts of the city council and municipality during his four years as an alderman. Serving as street committee chairman and later as head of the sewer committee, he helped upgrade local street maintenance and construction. He devoted more hours than any other individual in obtaining voter approval of comprehensive drainage improvements this spring.

Automatic warning lights and gates were placed in operation there last week, and much of the credit goes to the Organization for Community Action, Inc., Citizens Chamber of Commerce and other groups and citizens who effectively focused state governmental attention on the perilous crossing last year.
Such warning devices are costly and state commissions are hesitant to order their installation. But the loss of life on Maryville road over a period of years made it clear that the area of the tracks, the hilly terrain, the traffic volume and other factors added up to too great a hazard.
Each of us has it within his power to make the Quad-Cities a better place to live and work, if we will only make the place. The Maryville crossing signals are a tribute to local residents who were willing to accept such a challenge.

50 YEARS AGO

JUNE 26, 1917
With a band of horns and rattles of drums, the members of Company D of the Missouri National Guard swung down 19th street and presented Gran City with a vivid picture that this country is at war.
Khaki clad, dusty and dry, the men marched to the commons opposite the rolling mill office where the drilling was scheduled to take place.
According to an invitation to refresh the men with a drink of ice water, Capt. Meyers remarked that they had a few minutes relaxation before commencing the drill.
The house has cleared all of its own bills except for the highway series and set June 22 as a deadline for completion of all committee work. Deadline for action on 28 highway bills was June 24.
The house again last week scheduled a Monday-Saturday work week. In the previous two weeks, work was completed by Friday night and the Saturday session cancelled.
The Senate last week announced a full seven days work, including a session Sunday, June 25.
Despite the fact that deadlines on introducing bills were earlier than customary and were generally adhered to, some pre-arranged legislative logjams are possible this week and some bills continued to be filed past the target date.
Total bills now totals 425 (173 Senate and 242 House). The old mark was 399 two years ago.
Among the recent bills were: House Bill 232—Creates Division of Professional Supervision to regulate the practice of law. Appropriates $150,000.
House Bill 233—Appropriates $187,630 to Southern Illinois University.
House Bill 242—Prohibits libel, character defamation or slander of any group because of race, color or religion.
Senate Bill 1773—Re-appropriates $222,223 to Department of Finance for emergency repairs of state-owned buildings.
House Bill 241—Additional powers to Shawneetown Regional Port District.
House Bill 242—Eliminates leasing taxes on rental receipts, and places incidence of tax on lessor's gross receipts.
House Bill 243—Eliminates property tax on sale of property to

Vietnamese Vote Despite Terrorism

(U. S. Department of State)
I am interested in the elections that were held in Vietnam. I have looked in newspapers for information, but they did not contain enough information that I was looking for.
From my point of view, the people who turned out for the elections in Vietnam, despite Communist threats, made the greatest steps toward defeating the Communists Vietnam has ever taken.

There were many foreign observers in Vietnam during these elections.
In response to the invitation from the Government of Vietnam, the usual foreign press corps of about 350 correspondents swelled to over 600 by election day.
Diplomats resident at Saigon also received an invitation from the Government of Vietnam to witness the voting.
That government provided transport and other assistance for the voters as well as the diplomats and to facilitate their travel throughout the country.
Parliamentary delegations from Japan, Korea also observed the elections.
At Saigon, Italian Ambassador d'Amico, French Ambassador de la Motte, and other diplomats, pointed out: "Due to the efficient arrangements made by the Government of Vietnam, it was possible for the diplomats corps in Saigon to see the orderly way in which this nation-wide vote was cast and counted. The vote was perfectly free and protected from violence."
The great majority of comments by the Viet-Correspondents were in a similarly favorable vein.

Participation of Vietnamese voters in the elections of Sept. 11, 1966, exceeded expectations. Nearly 43 million persons cast ballots, or 88.5% of the registered electorate.
Compared with the local elections of May 30, 1965, there was an increase of 12% in the number of registered voters, and an increase of 21% in the number of actual voters.

Terrorist incidents just prior to and during voting hours were five times the average rate during the preceding month.
There were 166 acts of terrorism by the Viet-Correspondents during the election eve and hours of polling.

Find Genetic Blocks to Learning

(American Institute of Biological Sciences)
Those blank spots in your ability to learn—the bad memory for numbers or places, the poor performance in spelling in grade school—could have been inherited from your parents.
The conclusion of a pilot study conducted by a Northwestern University communication disorders research team.
The conclusion that genetics sometimes plays a role in the occurrence of learning disabilities is based on study of 14 Chicago-area families, each having a child doing poorly in school because of perceptual or learning disabilities.
All of the parents of these 14 children—about half of them brothers and sisters—also were found to have various types of perceptual or memory defects, the researchers report.
Results so far strongly suggest that genetic differences may account for learning disorders in some children earlier suspected of having suffered brain damage. A continuing study of the 45,000 feet. It will operate at ranges up to 6,000 miles. In an all-cargo model the 747 can carry 26 cargo containers, each ten feet long, eight feet wide and eight feet high. The plane's cargo capacity of 110 tons is more than twice that of today's jet freighters.

To Sell Abroad

The Boeing Co. plans a production capacity of up to 200 Model 747s by December 1972 and a total of 400 by December 1975. Boeing planners expect a large number to be sold abroad.

In one of the largest subcontract programs in the history of commercial aircraft manufacturing, approximately 65% of the airframe weight of the 490-passenger jet will be built by firms other than Boeing. The subcontracted units are built to Boeing engineering specifications and quality standards and shipped to Boeing for installation, final assembly and flight testing.

Final assembly of the huge jetliner will be in a new plant Boeing is building near Everett, Wash., north of Seattle. On the 780-acre site will be the largest volume building (160 million cubic feet) in which primary manufacturing, sub assembly and final assembly operations for the 747 will be housed. This facility will include an automatic riveting machine larger than a football field to construct wing panels.

Budget Meeting Tomorrow for UF Board, Delegates

The second quarterly meeting of the Tri-Cities Area United Fund board of directors will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the YMCA club rooms.

A. P. Steinhilber, board president, said all UF agency delegates also are invited as the board is to receive its report from the admissions and distributions committee headed by George Becker.

The committee recently completed its task of reviewing a budget request with the officers of the various United Fund agencies and has prepared its recommendations for approval by the board.

At a meeting of the campaign cabinet last week, a tentative budget of $34,000 was set for 1968. This represents an increase of about 6% over the $32,000 raised in last year's drive.

Smith Commended for Stand on Sales Taxes

Illinois House Speaker Ralph T. Smith has been commended for his stand against a raise in sales taxes.

He received the following telegram from Joseph T. Meek, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

"Millions of hard pressed purchasers of necessary merchandise must join with us and with all your long border retailers in applauding your conviction that there be no increase in the sales tax rates at this session."

"We are deeply grateful for your insistence that other occupations be found to help share the great load. Your strong and proper position also materially lessens our fears of an income tax."

"If the sales tax rate is raised, pressures for an income tax will be quadrupled by new backing from border merchants, labor unions, agriculture and educational interests and the oppressed consumers in general. 'Stick to your guns. You are making history for all of us.'"

Police issued arrest tickets Friday to two motorists on charges of disobeying traffic signals. Water Graddock, 3101 Wayne avenue, was given a ticket at 20th street and Madison avenue, and Leonard Fuchs, 2404 Angela drive, at Nameoki and Johnson roads.

Miss Joyce Mason Becomes Bride of Roger Wm. Tracy

Burning tapers in tall candelabra entwined with smilax and white ribbons lined the center aisle of the Nameoki Methodist Church Saturday evening, when Miss Joyce Marie Mason and Roger William Tracy exchanged wedding vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Mason, 2305 St. Clair avenue. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tracy, reside at 1815 Kil-dara avenue, Midlothian, Ill.

Rev. Billy G. Hahn performed the double-ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock, and a reception was held in the church basement immediately following.

The former Miss Mason was graduated in 1965 from Granite City high school and recently completed her sophomore year at McKendree College, Lebanon, where she is a member of the Alpha Omega sorority.

Mr. Tracy, a 1963 graduate of Bremen high school, also attended McKendree College. He is employed at General Steel Industries, Inc., and his fraternity is Phi Lambda Sigma.

Masses of white gladiolus and pom poms, together with branched candelabra, decorated the altar and the bride was escorted down the white-carpeted aisle by her father who gave her in marriage.

Mrs. William Kuenbler was matron of honor and Miss Becky Browne, the bride's roommate at college, Miss Christina Gillespie, a classmate, and Miss Nancy Horman, a sorority sister, were the bridesmaids.

Mr. Tracy had as best man, Greg Dell, and the groomsmen were James Tracy, his brother, and Dan Strobo and Larry Lee, both fraternity brothers of the groom. The corps of ushers included James Hahn, James Turner, Gary Willis and Richard Osland.

Also in the bridal party were Elizabeth Key, the flower girl, and David Gray, who carried the white satin ring pillow. Candlelighters were Howard Pierce and Neil Seymour.

The former Miss Mason designed and made the full-length bridal gown of imported English lace and peau de soie. The lace bodice was fitted with A-line sleeves and featured the Empire waistline. The peau de soie skirt, also styled in the A-line fashion, was enhanced with a detachable cathedral train, falling gracefully from a point at mid-back and detailed with a bow of the same fabric.

The chapel-length veil of illusion, embellished with lace motifs, was held in place with a garland of fresh flowers matching her colonial bouquet of white daisy pom poms, white roses, stephanotis and variegated ivy.

The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns in Azalea pink, with brief cap sleeves and the high-rise waistline. The slender skirt contour was given fullness at the back with a pleated effect and detailed with three small bows. The matron of honor and bridesmaids held colonial bouquets of pink daisy pom poms and variegated ivy.

The flower girl was in a pea her studies at McKendree College in September.

MRS. ROGER WILLIAM TRACY, the former Joyce Marie Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Mason, 2305 St. Clair avenue, whose wedding was Saturday evening at Nameoki Methodist Church.

Young and Povolny Wedding At St. John Lutheran Church

St. John Lutheran Church was the setting for the wedding Saturday of Miss Judith Marianne Povolny, daughter of Mrs. Mary Povolny, 3717 Ruth drive, and Robert Lee Young, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young, reside at 2804 National avenue.

White summer blossoms and greenery decorated the altar before which the couple repeated their wedding vows. Rev. Samuel Boda and Rev. Carl Johnson officiated at the two o'clock double-ring ceremony.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Mary Cell, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Diana Gebhardt. Selections included The Lord's Prayer and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Escorted by her uncle, John Phillips of Madison, who gave her in marriage, the former Miss Povolny was gown in pure white organza and Chantilly lace, a long tapered sleeves, ending in a train. The bride wore a fitted bodice, designed with a scooped neckline.

The very bouffant skirt of organza was accented with delicate lace appliques and a detachable sweep train of Chantilly, attached at the shoulders, was bordered with scallops of re-embroidered lace. A tiered veil of bridal illusion was secured with a dainty jeweled crown, embellished with seed pearls and iridescent, and she carried an arrangement of white roses, orchids and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Cathy Springer was maid of honor, with Miss Peggy Eggenmeyer of Walsh, Ill., a cousin of the groom, and Miss Sheila Kadet of Cleveland, O., the bride's cousin, as the bridesmaids. Joan Louise and John Raymond Walker, niece and nephew of the groom, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

The honor attendant chose a floor-length sheath style gown in petal pink, fashioned with a fitted Venice lace bodice and flowing nylon panels accenting the back. The bridesmaids were similarly dressed in pastel shades of green and yellow. The attendants had matching headpieces and carried cascades of carnations and daisies to complement their gowns.

A white lace dress, its gathered skirt sweeping to the floor, was worn by the flower girl, who held a basket of red rose petals.

The bridegroom selected as his best man, Ronald Moneymaker, and as groomsmen, Glenn Walkington and Robert Henke of Edwardsville.

More than 200 guests gathered in the St. John Church hall for a reception immediately after the ceremony. Out-of-town guests were from Cleveland, O., St. Louis, Chester, Sparta, Steelville, Walsh and Berthel, Ill.

The bride was graduated this month from Granite City high school. Her husband, a 1966 graduate, is employed as a milling machine operator at McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Co., St. Louis county.

Following a honeymoon trip to Los Angeles, Calif., the couple will reside at 3717 Ruth drive.

MRS. JOSEPH ALAN GROBOSKI, the former Margaret Mary Dallas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dallas, 3015 Buxton avenue, whose wedding was an event of Saturday morning at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church.

Miss Dallas, Jos. Groboski Wed at St. Margaret Mary's

Miss Margaret Mary Dallas became the bride of Joseph Alan Groboski in a 10:15 a.m. ceremony Saturday at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church. Rev. J. Schwellenbach officiated at the Nuptial High Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dallas, 3015 Buxton avenue. Mr. Groboski's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Groboski, 2934 Washington avenue.

White gladiolus and pom poms decorated the altar and the center aisle was carpeted in white. The former Miss Dallas was given in marriage by her father.

Designed in a graceful, controlled silhouette, the bridal gown was of Chantilly lace and silk organza over taffeta. The Chantilly lace bodice was sprinkled with seed pearls and featured the high rise waist, delicately scalloped neckline and short sleeves.

Lace motifs were used to accent the floor-length, softly-draping skirt and a bouffant veil of pure silk French illusion cascading to the waist was secured to a filigree scalloped crown, fashioned of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis, centered with a detachable white orchid corsage.

Miss Norma Dallas, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and Miss Marianne Hahn and Mrs. Linda Saltich were the bridesmaids. The latter is a cousin of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore sheath-style dresses of mint green linen and Venice lace. The fitted bodices, designed with a crescent waistline, were enhanced with a monk's collar of Venice lace dipping to the waist in the back. Their forward headpieces of nylon leaves and rosebuds were attached to a four-bustle maine veil and cascade bouquets of yellow carnations and variegated ivy completed their ensembles.

Mr. Groboski selected as best man, his brother, John Groboski, and as groomsmen, James Schurman, a friend, and Steve Saltich, the groom's cousin. Thomas Papin and Donald Bridick, cousins of the bride, served as ushers.

Guests assembled at the VFW hall on Washington avenue for a wedding breakfast immediately after the ceremony. At six o'clock Saturday evening, the newly-married couple also was honored at a reception held in the same location.

Following a honeymoon trip to Tan-Tan-A Lodge, Lake of the Ozarks, Mr. and Mrs. Groboski will be at home after July 1, at 2310 Grand avenue.

The former Miss Dallas is employed as a correspondence clerk in the medical records department at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Her husband is an apprentice machinist at Jack-Evans Manufacturing Co., St. Louis. Both are graduates of Granite City high school.

EOC Group to Study Programs for EPA

The Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission has assigned a five-member committee to conduct a public meeting in Eagle Park Acres to determine the wishes and needs of area residents for programs sponsored by the county anti-poverty organization.

David L. Walker, EOC assistant director, said today that appointment of the special committee resulted from the appearance of a large delegation of Eagle Park residents at last week's commission meeting in Edwardsville. Those appointed to discuss the EOC programs with residents of the unincorporated community, located south of Madison, have been directed by James M. Bailey, commission president, to determine the amount of general support in that area for EOC projects.

Walker explained that a factional dispute recently has stymied some programs proposed by the anti-poverty agency for the community. No date has yet been set for the meeting, the EOC officer said. He added that all residents will be informed in advance on the date, time and location.

Commission members appointed are Robert Gain, Madison county public aid director; Robert McCormick, AFL-CIO Community Services representative; and Mrs. Fern Hornberger, Salvation Army welfare executive, both of Granite City; Correstus Williams, Madison, and Raleigh Freeman, Venice.

MORE ABOUT U. S. Says

clearing through the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, which brought up a general discussion during the meeting as to the definition of regional and local projects. The question arose as to what should be done if the Gateway Council rejects a proposed program.

Maslan said the only alternative would be for the community to revise its plan to fit in with overall planning and resubmit it to the council.

William Straube, president of the planning commission, said the major problem lies in defining the area of work of the Gateway council. He said the council has not been specific as to which areas of development are regional and which are local, and that eventually the council will have to better define the problems.

Straube said that as an example highways obviously are a regional problem, but there is a question as to whether water systems, sewer projects and park developments are local, county, bi-county or regional matters.

May Vary in Size

Maslan said that a region is defined for federal purposes on the basis of population, and that as a result a region or planning area may run anywhere in geographic size from a single city to several counties.

In the case of the St. Louis Metropolitan area divided only by the river, the entire East-West Gateway district is classified as a single planning district, he explained.

Straube pointed out that the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission is an example of overall planning for the area as a whole. He said SIMAPC is now preparing an overall county water and sewer plan which must be in existence by July 1, 1968, to qualify any agency within the area for federal funds.

And we're expanding our pipeline system to meet the growing demand for natural gas in winter. But from May to October a big part of the gas we can deliver is not consumed. As much as one-third of the daily supply of gas available for Greater St. Louis is not used, in home or industry. Natural gas is the clean, smokeless, economical fuel. but no one responded. He then went to the highway (Route 9) and finally stopped a man on a motor scooter who called police.

Also trying to help the girl was Robert Kessman of Edwardsville, authorities said.

Clark who was on the far side of the canal, had to swim about 125 feet to reach Miss Wilkinson. He said he and Urban were on each side of the girl trying to get her to the bank.

Robert Wilkinson told authorities that other persons on the bank, instead of trying to help, entered their autos and drove away.

The canal has long been a popular swimming and fishing area despite frequent dangerous undercurrents which have caused other drownings in the past. The canal also provides the harbor for the Bowline Boat Club.

Born in Cadiz, Ky., Shenwell lived in Granite City 11 years and was graduated from Granite City high school in 1966. He was employed by the McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Co. as a plane-man. He and Miss Wilkinson were going steady.

Survivors Listed

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Shenwell; two sisters, Jeanette and Monica Shenwell, both of Granite City; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Della Barnes, Dover, Tenn.; and his paternal grandfather, S. F. Shenwell, Big Rock, Tenn. He was taken to Dover for funeral services. An obituary notice appears elsewhere in this issue.

Miss Wilkinson, a native of Highland, lived in Granite City 12 years. She attended Granite City high school and was a member of the Baptist Church.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson, Granite City; four brothers, Charles, Robert, Michael and Daniel Wilkinson, Granite City; her grandparents, Mrs. Hattie Scates of Granite City and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkinson of Edwardsville; and her great-grandparents, Mrs. Lillie Aaron, East St. Louis, and Ed Hicks, Greenville. An obituary notice appears elsewhere in this issue.

Inquests are to be held next week.

County Liquor Law May Get Test in Court

A court test of the county liquor control law regulating the opening and closing hours of the 150 taverns in unincorporated Louisa is shaping up at Edwardsville.

The County Liquor Control committee is planning to call in a number of rural area tavern operators Thursday to determine if the law is being violated. The committee declined to name the national UPW meeting this week at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. Theme of the annual gathering will be "The Changing World."

The present county liquor control law prohibits sale of liquor from 1 a.m. to 6 a.m. Monday through Saturday and 2 a.m. until noon on Sunday.

The big questions is whether an establishment that sells both liquor and food is required to close during the hours specified for no sale of liquor.

State's Atty. Leon Scroggins said he has been unable to get a ruling from Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark.
